U.S. DISTRICT COURT RULES IN FAVOR OF REPEAT PRECISION AND NCS MULTISTAGE WITH $34.4 MILLION AWARD

HOUSTON, March 17, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE)--NCS Multistage Holdings, Inc. (“NCS” or the “Company”) (NASDAQ:NCSM) today announced that the United States District Court for the Western District of Texas, Waco Division, has awarded Repeat Precision, LLC, a 50 percent owned subsidiary of NCS (“Repeat Precision”), an approximately $34.4 million decision plus attorneys’ fees, in the case of Diamondback Industries, Inc. (“Diamondback”) vs. Repeat Precision, LLC, NCS Multistage LLC, and NCS Multistage Holdings, Inc., No.6:19-CV-00034-ADA. In its ruling, the Court validated the terms of Repeat Precision’s exclusive license agreement with respect to the setting tool technology practicing U.S. Patent No. 9,810,035, which Repeat Precision sells on a standalone basis and as the PurpleSeal Express™ System, combining the setting tool with the PurpleSeal™ frac plug. This ruling means Diamondback is prevented from selling its infringing SS line of setting tools. To read the Court’s ruling in its entirety, please view a copy of the ruling posted on NCS’s website under Investors-Presentations at <https://ir.ncsmultistage.com/presentations/Decision-3-20>.

“We are very pleased with the District Court’s decision.” said Robert Nipper, NCS’s Chief Executive Officer. “Diamondback filed a myriad of claims the District Court found to be meritless, many of which were voluntarily dismissed before trial, against NCS, Repeat Precision, R.J. Machine Company, our Repeat Precision joint venture partner, and certain directors and corporate officers individually, including Grant Martin, Gary Martin and myself. This is an exceptional case where the Court awarded Repeat Precision enhanced damages for patent infringement and exemplary damages for tortious interference.

Although the decision remains subject to appeal, and any monetary award subject to collection, we are ready to move forward from this litigation and continue to deliver technologies to our customers, like the innovative setting tool and PurpleSeal Express™ System, to optimize our customers’ operations and the value of their assets.”

Repeat Precision was represented by Locke Lord LLP, led by Scott Hastings, and Susman Godfrey LLP, led by J. Hoke (Trey) Peacock III and Shawn Raymond.
