

The PurpleSeal™ Pump Down Nose

Premium design and high performance at a great price

Whether your perforating guns misfire, you need to pump guns down for stage one, or you simply want to log the well without using a gauge ring, the PurpleSeal™ Pump Down Nose is up for the challenge. With an entirely composite construction, it can be released downhole if desired. The pumpdown fin feature drastically improves the pumpdown efficiency by creating more surface area for the water to pump on; it effectively pulls your assembly downhole.
